

Finnish handcrafted design made of glass to Scandinavia's largest platform for design!

Essis by Lasilinkki will bring new opportunities and alternatives to the traditional glasses for interior design at the Stockholm furniture fair in February this year. We manufacture various patterned glasses ourselves in several different shades for interior glass solutions such as glass doors, glass walls and glass furniture. Since the pattern can be almost anything, it opens the possibility for versatile and personal interior design with glass.

"From the very beginning, I have known that we have something very special and truly unique in our hands. Not only that we do something that others don't, but that we have the best and most skilled glass masters. We have slowly grown our decorative glass side and, above all, in the last 5 years, we have invested in melted patterned glass, recycled glass products and custom work." describes Essi Sundman, founder and creative director of the Essis by Lasilinkki brand.

"The Stockholm furniture fair has been my dream for a long time. But this is not just about the dream, it's also a continuation of long development work and internationalization. We can create unique ensembles with our glasses for interior decoration and we want to show it to everyone. Glass is a versatile material, and its possibilities are endless," Sundman enthuses.

Individual decorating with glass

We want to emphasize our "superpowers" at the event! Our melted patterned glass will appear in different glass surfaces; from tables to glass doors to illuminated wall panels. We are also introducing diverse design of our new small products for the first time.

We also want to showcase the perfect combination of the beautiful lightness and transparency of glass with the warmth of wood. The shades are discreet and harmonious, so that the striking glass works, and design of the glass can stand out.

The design of our stand has been done in cooperation with Poiat Studio. In addition to that, we also cooperate in the production of the stand with both our local partners and as well as new acquaintances. You can find our stand in C13:13.
