

Essis Boutique Hotel concept reimagines finnish artisan glass for global interiors

Essis by Lasilinkki introduces a boutique hotel concept where Finnish artisan glass takes center stage in spatial storytelling. Created in collaboration with a Finnish designer Jutta Tanninen, the CGI-based concept showcases immersive visualizations that position glass not just as a surface, but as a mood, a message, and a medium of emotion.

Designed for interior architects, design media, and commercial visionaries, the concept demonstrates how handcrafted glass can elevate the meaning of design in hospitality, residential, and commercial spaces. Each image is technically feasible and ready for real-world implementation.

“It feels like we’ve only scratched the surface. There are endless ideas and possibilities, and that’s what makes this so inspiring. Our artisanal glass isn’t just a beautiful surface — it carries emotion, a story, and the soul of its maker,”

— Essi Sundman, founder of Essis by Lasilinkki

Essis by Lasilinkki’s artisan glass reflects three generations of craftsmanship, design, and storytelling. The concept is part of the brand’s internationalization initiative, aiming to open new perspectives on how Finnish design heritage can be applied globally.

Highlights:

- Essis by Lasilinkki is the only artisan glass manufacturer in the Nordics, combining tradition with innovation.
- Responsibly handcrafted glass surfaces offer immersive, emotionally rich experiences.
- The concept is designed to inspire architects, designers, and developers worldwide.
